[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

EASTERN DATES TO JUNE 1

EASTERN STATES

Gratz Brown's Acceptance

St. Louis, June [illegible].—Gov B Gratz Brown has written a letter of acceptance of the Liberal Republican nomination for Vice President. It is a somewhat lengthy review and cordial indorsement of the Cincinnati platform the greater portion being devoted to the amnesty question.

New York News

New York, June 2.—Brooke and Freeland of the Jersey City Board of Public Works found guilty of conspiracy to defraud the city are to be sentenced on Monday.

The body of James Gordon Bennett will be preserved until the arrival of his children from Europe.

The Republican National Convention

New York, June 2.—The Times Philadelphia special says the New York delegation will be here Tuesday and next morning organize a committee to come to a determination in relation to the Vice Presidency. There appears to be some division in sentiment among delegates on this point and it is thought that Henry Wilson will have the largest vote. Colfax will probably have the highest vote on the first ballot. Bickham editor of the Dayton (Ohio) Journal has arrived and announces Craighead for Governor. Dennison requests the withdrawal of his name and states that Colfax will get nearly all the Ohio delegation for the Vice Presidency. Though just now the contest is between Colfax and Henry Wilson it is difficult to say who will be chosen by the convention. Gov Hawley may be a compromise candidate.

England Asks for Time on the Supplemental Article

A Washington special says a request for time for the more careful consideration of the Supplemental Article has been made by the British Government. This if it means anything must mean postponement of the Geneva Conference which should meet on the 15th inst.

General News

Tallahassee, June 2.—The Supreme Court yesterday decided Blathoun Democrat elected Lieut Governor by 45 majority. J Davis Republican hitherto filled that position.

WASHINGTON CITY

Miscellaneous News

Washington, June 2.—The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to assist the Secretary in New York to buy [illegible] each Thursday in June.

MEXICO

New York, June 2.—A Matamoras special says the Revolutionists forced twenty four wealthy merchants of Monterey to work on the trenches on account of their refusal to pay a forced loan of $50 000.

French Affairs.

Paris, June 2.—Lucas Colton mill the largest of the kind in the vicinity of Rouen was totally destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss estimated at a million francs. Nearly 1 000 operatives are thrown out of employment.

Louis Cassagnac fought a duel yesterday with Lacroix editor of the Appel and the latter was slightly wounded.

A preliminary examination this evening of members of Bazaine's army was completed under direction of Gen Larcisval.

Spanish News.

Madrid, June 2.—Serrano has arrived. His explanation of his course towards rebels is entirely satisfactory to the Government.

Radicals and Carlists have elected Cardova leader in place of Sevilla.

CALIFORNIA

From San Francisco

San Francisco, June 3.—The steamer Alameda last evening brought over from Encinal 3 000 excursionists at one trip said to be the largest number ever landed here from one steamer.

The weather is warm.

Stocks opened this morning quiet but apparently firmer and the impression is that the bottom is touched.

Full details of the occupation of Mazatlan by the Federal troops on the 5th May have been received. The rebels at Mazatlan on the 3d ult were astonished to learn that Gen Rocha with 2 000 men had passed around Culiacan where Marquez was still fighting with Gov Pesquira and was within fifteen leagues of the place. They at once fled precipitately to San Blas not having time to levy the usual forced loan on the merchants and wealthy inhabitants. There was no opposition to Rocha's entrance and the only blood shed was the killing of a young man in the streets by one of the Federal officers as is alleged by mistake he being mistaken for a leading rebel who was supposed to have been secreted there.

The next steamer will clear for Mazatlan the port being now open.

The Bank of California shipped $300 000 gold coin to-day by the Panama steamer.

Judge Dwinelle was to have decided upon the application of Mrs Fair for a change of venue in the 15th District Court to-day but announced that having been absent in the country he was compelled to postpone the matter until Friday next at 10 A M when he will give a final decision.

A dispatch from Pioche says the Desdemona Co obtained an injunction against the Hubb & Hunt Co on giving $18 000 bonds.

Stocks broke worse than ever this afternoon and those of Washoe especially closed flat and lifeless. There is quite an amount of stocks in eastern Nevada newly incorporated now being disposed of to citizens at low rates.

The case of Harlow publisher of the P[illegible] Gazette charged with obtaining money under false pretences from Josephine Roland came up in the Police Court this afternoon. It was shown that the defendant went to her with the proof of an article which he represented he had been paid to publish and a villainously indecent cut and told her that unless he got more he must publish it. She paid him $50 not to publish it and then had him arrested. The charge was dismissed as there is no law to cover such cases.

The steamer from Panama, though nominally due to-day, is not expected for two or three days yet.

William B[illegible] King late Postmaster at Lake City Surprise Valley is lying dangerously ill having been stricken with paralysis on Saturday last.

Two young burglars Johnson and Graham robbed a house on Chestnut street this morning carrying off a large quantity of plunder which they were caught in the act of burying in the sand hills.

The grand military entertainment and production of the battle of Solferino at Woodward's Gardens yesterday contrary to predictions turned out an immense success and was witnessed by thousands of people.

No movement toward the celebration of the 4th July [illegible] made [illegible]

Captain David Van Pelt, in early days Captain of the steamers Senator New World and Co[illegible] at different times died yesterday aged [illegible]

August Massey charged with being one of the conductors of the new dice games which have taken the place of monte and faro since the [illegible]

U S Assessor John Lasley is seriously ill from erysipelas in the head.

The bids for the 10 per cent school bonds opened to-day resulted in the award of $1100 at the highest price ever obtained for bonds on the Pacific coast.

Mrs Mary P Sawtelle who went east from Oregon to secure an act of Congress granting married and single women in Oregon and all the Territories permission to take 160 acres of land each under the pre-emption laws reports the success of her mission assured.

Vitriol throwing is again becoming a fashionable amusement. A lady and gentleman had their clothes ruined while walking out on Saturday evening.

San Francisco, June 3.—This evening the Board of Supervisors refused to take the resolution up to appoint a committee to make arrangements to celebrate the Fourth of July. They then [illegible] passed resolution providing for the reducing [illegible] and perpetuating in an authentic form the [illegible] of valuable witnesses to frauds by which bonds were voted to the Southern Pacific Railroad. The issuing of bonds being restrained by the Attorney it is necessary to have evidence ready for use at any time.

La Franca Barret at the California Theatre and Maggie Thorne at the Metropolitan are each greeted with immense houses and warmly welcomed by their admirers.

B F Brenkel arrived this evening from Tuolumne county en route to the State Prison for three years for felony.

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES

Los Angeles, June 3.—About half past nine a fire broke out in an Italian drug store on Commercial street. The store was completely gutted; loss $1 100.

The Burlingame artesian well at Compton is 1[illegible]0 feet deep and ejects live fish resembling trout from a half to two inches long. The same phenomena appears in an artesian well on a ranch near by, seeming to indicate the existence of a subterranean river.

Startle

A WONDERFUL PERFORMANCE

[From the New York Turf Field and Farm]

On the authority of Bonner it was announced Friday morning last in the Turf Field and Farm that Startle would be given a trial on Prospect Park at 4 o clock this afternoon. Startle has not been handled a single day this spring by a professional. Bonner has given him all the work he has received. He has trotted fast quarters halves and full miles and yet in all his speeding has not made a single break. This is remarkable especially when we remember the age of the horse. The weather was very sultry up to 3 o clock on Friday. The thermometer stood in front of the Astor House at 96 degrees in the shade. Oppressive as the air was Startle was taken in the forenoon from Bonner's stable on Fifty fifth street and driven to Prospect Park—a long and exasperating drive. About half past 3 o clock a gale of wind swept up suddenly from the ocean raising clouds of dust, and blustering wildly over the track. A number of ladies and gentlemen had assembled in the Club House to witness the exhibition announced, and as the wind rose higher and higher many expressed the fear that they would be disappointed. Experienced trainers like Loomis and Hiram H[illegible] looked at the eddying clouds of dust and gravely shook their heads. It is impossible to make good time in the face of a gale like this, said they. Bonner however had announced a public exhibition of speed and he was determined to give it no matter how unfavorable the circumstances. Commodore Dodge, Robert Fletcher the former owner of Socrates and the veteran Sam Hoagland were selected as judges. Startle was put to the sulky and George Hopkins who had never pulled a rein over him but twice and who consequently could not thoroughly understand the horse got up behind him. The judges took their places in the stand and Startle was off. The wind favored him the first quarter but Hopkins failed to get him thoroughly down to his work. The quarter was made in 37 seconds and people began to shake their heads. The half mile was finished in 1 14. Hopkins now gave the horse his head and he trotted faster and more at ease doing the last half mile in 1 10¾, and the full mile in 2:24¾. A wonderful performance exclaimed all but a scowl was on Bonner's face. Evidently he was disappointed. It was no use to talk of wind clouds of dust and the condition of the course the track cupping badly in places. Neither would he heed the argument that the horse was young and fat, the season early the weather debilitating. He was disappointed and was resolved that the mile should be repeated. The horse cooled out well and in 30 minutes looked fresh and strong. The wind began to blow more gently, and finally lulled itself to sleep. Startle began his second effort well. He trotted squarely and steadily no wavering no inclination to leave his feet. He made the first quarter in 34½ seconds, and with a cheer from the crowd crossed the half mile in 1 09, the three quarter pole was reached in 1 43½ and the mile was completed in 2.1[illegible]. A shout went up when the judges announced the result and the scowl left Bonner's face. The performance was truly wonderful. Consider it a moment. On the 12th of May Startle with no preparation but what his owner had given him and not five years old until Tuesday May 14th, on a track none the best repeated a full mile carrying full weight in 2 1[illegible]—faster time than ever made by any stallion of any age.

Well may we regard him as a marvel. On the same day at Fleetwood Park American Girl and W H Allen both known to be fast trotted a match race of mile heats and the best time made was 2.33½. The contrast is striking, and the comparison brings out the performance of Startle in the strongest light. At the end of the second mile the young horse did not show any signs of distress. In fact Sam Hoagland looking critically at him gave it as his opinion that a third mile could be trotted in 2.20.

Wednesday morning Startle was driven a half mile at Fleetwood Park in the astonishing time of 1:04¾, the fastest half mile by two seconds ever made on the track by any horse of any age. He was timed by Thos Carpenter McGowan Gillender and other gentlemen. It is evident that Startle has great endurance as well as marvelous speed. His pedigree foreshadows this. He was got by Rysdyk's Hambletonian and he is out of Lizzie Walker. The breeding of this old chestnut mare is as follows: By American Star first dam by Old Hickory Hickory by Whip Whip by Seymour's Wildair and Wildair by Fearnaught. These strains have given stoutness to Startle and the pedigree demonstrates that he is a brother in blood to Dexter. He stands 15 hands 1 inch and his muscular development is simply grand. He is very gentle in disposition and seems to know nothing but trot. His action is clear and beautiful. He never strikes himself and has never worn a boot. Much of this however is owing to the scientific manner in which he is shod. He will now be let up as the horsemen say but in the fall if he keeps well we shall hear from him again.

The Great American Desert

The Great American Desert which we school boys of a quarter of a century ago saw on the maps of North America, has disappeared [illegible] from [illegible] to abound on the [illegible] as soon as the [illegible] railroads [illegible] the very desert becomes fruitful and at Humboldt Wells on the Central Pacific Railroad in the midst of the sage brush and alkali country you will see corn wheat potatoes and fruits of different kinds growing luxuriantly with the help of water and irrigation proving that this vast tract long supposed to be worthless needs only skillful treatment to be [illegible] fruitful.

One cannot help but speculate upon what kind of men we Americans shall be when all these now desolate plains are filled when cities shall be found where now only the lonely depot or the infrequent cabin stands when the iron and coal of these regions shall have become the foundation of great manufacturing population and when perhaps the whole continent will be covered by our stars and stripes. No other nation has ever spread over so large a territory or so diversified a surface as ours. From the low sea-washed shores of the Atlantic to our California a journey carries you to boundless plains which lie nearly as high as the summit of Mount Washington. Americans are digging silver ore in Colorado 800 feet higher than the highest point of the White Mountains. At Virginia City in Nevada one of the busiest centers of gold mining the travelers find it hard to draw in breath enough for rapid motion and when they first arrive there suffer from bleeding of the nose by reason of the rarity of the air. In Maine half the farmer's year is spent in accumulating supplies for the other and frozen half all over the Northern States the preparation for winter is an important part of our lives but in San Francisco the winter is the pleasantest part of the year. In Los Angeles they do not think it needful to build fireplaces and scarcely chimneys in their houses. And one people, speaking the same language, reading the same books holding a common religion paying taxes to the same Government, and proud of one common flag pervades these various altitudes and climates, intervisits intercommunicates intermarries and is with the potent help of the railroad fused constantly more closely together as a nation. What manner of man think you will be the American of 1972 the product of so many climes of so various a range as to altitude?—From California, by Charles Nordhoff in Harper's Magazine for May.

SHORT PARAGRAPHS

A California exchange says "Among those who dodge the vote in the United States Senate on the supplemental article to the Alabama claim treaty was Eugene Casserly of California our own Eugene. He has won for himself the soubriquet of the Artful Dodger."

In answer to a dispatch published in the Chicago Tribune, to the effect that "nine out of ten men on the streets of Elgin, Ill., are for Greeley," the Elgin Gazette says positively There are not in the city of Elgin six voters of Republican antecedents who will vote for Greeley or Brown.

A well deserved compliment is paid to General Grant by the Labor party of California, in a very able address they have issued in favor of Davis their candidate for President. They say of Davis that he is as firm in execution and as fixed in his purposes as President Grant. The President's character for these important qualities are thus acknowledged to be exemplary.

Judge Stanley Mathews of Cincinnati, who was one of the promoters of the Cincinnati Convention and was its temporary chairman has written a letter repudiating its nominees and denouncing it as a disgraced and disgraceful Convention. Edward Atkinson, David A Wells and others who took an active part in getting up the convention, also repudiate its work and are active in trying to bring forward Charles Francis Adams as a candidate.

They had a rousing Republican convention in Nebraska last week and the Omaha Tribune says. The convention did one good thing considering all the facts in the case, which will be heartily indorsed by the Republicans of the State. They instructed the delegates to vote for Grant and Colfax. In this they speak for nearly the whole party through the State for whatever divisions may have crept in on minor points, on this Republicans are a unit.

A new development has just been made in the coal mining regions surrounding Coos Bay, which promises to be of unusual importance. A company of Oakland gentlemen have for the past two years owned a tract of 1 800 acres of land containing the Hanly mine, and the work is just beginning to bring a return. The mine is on the line of deep navigation having an advantage over the others. A tunnel was run some 900 feet before the main ledge was struck, but now immense quantities of coal are in sight and a fortune no doubt awaits these Oaklanders.

The Amnesty bill, which has just become a law removes the political disabilities of 150-000 persons, among whom whom are Alexander H Stephens ex-Governors Letcher and Wise Generals Forest Hill Wade Hampton Johnston, Bragg Cooper Hardie and Beauregard Barnwell Rhett, James A. Seddon A R Wright John C Breckinridge and many other political and military Confederate leaders. Those still under the ban number several hundred among whom are Jefferson Davis Yule Mallory, Toombs, Wigfall Lamar and Crawford.

What effect the chronic state of revolution in which Mexico exists has had upon its prosperity may be judged from the fact that the entire revenue of the country is $18 210,708, upon commerce which averages but $51 000 000 annually, and which is constantly declining. In 1864 she exported to Great Britain nearly $25,000 000 in value, while in 1870 it had fallen to $6 000 000. The total foreign trade of $32,000 000 is now forced to yield a revenue of nearly $13 000 000. Of her entire indebtedness of $395 000 000 she pays interest upon but $35,000,000. This causes her to be excluded from all the stock markets of the world.

The German correspondent of the London Guardian says a curious phenomenon is to be seen in the northwest and east of Prussia. An emigrant mania is in full progress. In Schleswig Holstein it assumes extraordinary dimensions whole villages are being emptied, and people are selling houses and lands at ruinous prices. There is a wholesale exodus. Emigration agents are busy shipping off the people the greater and superior part to America and the lesser part to Queensland. Another correspondent writes. A village with good land in my district has only three families left in it and they go in a week or two. This mania is fast spreading to Posen and East Prussia. Hundreds camp out at the railways stations waiting for the trains to convey them away.

The New York World on Greeley

The New York World which all will admit is one of the most powerfully conducted and influential Democratic papers in the country thus puts the matter of Greeley's endorsement by the Baltimore Convention and speculates upon the probable results of such action by the leaders of the Democracy. A lengthy article on this subject concludes by saying.

The expediency of nominating Mr Greeley (self respect principles and political consistency apart) depends upon this simple consideration whether more Republican votes will be gained than Democratic votes repelled. There are Democrats who will not vote for him in any event not even under the constraint of the Baltimore nomination if he should get it. The extracts which we print this morning from the Catholic organs show that the Irish religious influence will never be reconciled to him. A large section of the German Democrats will never accept him. More important than all, multitudes of Democrats who prefer principles to expediency have already made up their minds to bolt the Baltimore ticket if the convention nominates Greely. With our present data for forecasting the situation we have no doubt that Mr Greeley's nomination at Baltimore would drive away two Democrats for every Republican that will follow Mr Greeley in a Democratic alliance.

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 4, 1872.

The Election and its Results

The election yesterday seems to have been a political [illegible] through [illegible] the State [illegible] Wilson [illegible] majority in the State at from three hundred [illegible] hundred [illegible] The complexion of the Legislature [illegible] not yet speak with positive certainty but the chances favor a Republican majority [illegible] ballot in that [illegible] but whether [illegible] secured the Legislature or not the [illegible] of the State is unmistakably [illegible] A fair apportionment of members would have given us a large majority in the Legislature

The Democratic party of Oregon received a terrible blow from the profligate legislation of the last session from the litigant bill the locks bill, the swamp land act and other measures It has also been injured by its blind opposition to the railroad policy of the State The people of Oregon have revolted from the policy and measures of the Democratic party just as the people of California revolted from the policy and measures of that party last year In both States it is a complete political revolution, resulting from similar causes Those causes have their origin in the unworthiness of the Democratic party

The result of this election is a record of the deliberate judgment of the people of Oregon upon the course of the Democratic party in this State since its term of power began four years ago It has been weighed in the balance and found wanting

Oregon Redeemed

Once more Oregon is a Republican State She wheels again into line, and marches once more to the old accustomed music Multnomah county has a proud share in bringing about this result

All over the Union this result will be hailed as a signal triumph It is the first time the people have spoken since the Cincinnati Convention It devolved on the people of Oregon to utter the first voice and they have spoken in terms that will not be misunderstood

Just as this news flashes across the wires to the East the Philadelphia Convention will be assembling. It is news which will electrify that body and bring the name of Oregon up on every tongue In a national point of view this election has a still deeper significance It proclaims the vitality of the Republican and the further decay of the Democratic party It is an utterance for Grant and for the Republican party of the United States It makes the vote of Oregon secure in the Presidential election, and will help to strengthen still further the National Republican organization.

Wilson's Majority

Two years ago the majority against Judge Wilson in the State was 343. Multnomah county gave him 406 majority Now, his majority in Multnomah must be nearly 900 so it appears that he has gained more in Multnomah than the whole majority against him two years ago In other counties the gain is also large Marion now gives him 380 majority, against 335 in 1870. Lane, though throwing a majority of 121 against him two years since, now gives him a majority In Douglas his majority is notably increased, in Washington also. The Democratic majority in Jackson is also decreased

Political Midwifery

The turmoil into which the Democratic papers throughout the country have wrought themselves in regard to what the Cincinnati Convention has done, and what the Philadelphia and Baltimore Conventions are yet to do is, says the Stockton Independent, at least comical and amusing. One feature of their programme seems to be an endeavor by common consent, to praise Greeley without accepting him as their candidate They are waiting for the birth of the Baltimore bantling, and are fussing and fuming around over and under the political bunk in a state of painful anxiety, and at the same time tooting their tin whistles for Horace The object is transparent. Any scheme, plan, measure, device or trick that in any way possible is calculated to throw confusion into the Republican ranks by deceiving and leading astray the unwary, and estranging or neutralizing their influence in the Republican fold, is a grateful task for Democracy—a task which they are ever ready to undertake and work earnestly to accomplish. On the other hand Greeley's disciples evidently hope for succor from the rank and file of the Democratic party. But staunch, bold, out spoken Democrats, whose abilities make them leaders see no hope for salvation in the Cincinnati movement Voorhees declares openly against the adoption of the Cincinnati ticket by the National Convention, believing that such adoption would inevitably result in the disgraceful suicide of the party Other leading Democrats men who possess more influence with the rank and file of their party than scores of obscure newspapers—follow suit These leaders look upon the indorsement of the Cincinnati candidate as an inconsistence which would wipe out the Democratic party effectually and forever while others who are temporarily bushwhacking, endeavor to make it appear that under certain contingencies they could hug Horace to their hearts They believed that the old man, who wanted to let the wayward sisters depart in peace would be wax in the hands of flatterers It is this class of Democrats who, with much apparent gravity, are trying to convince Republicans of the serious results likely to follow a non recognition of Greeley's fitness and popularity. Only divide the Republican party between Philadelphia and Cincinnati and give Baltimore a show! That is the sum total of Democratic pettyfogging for the white coated philosopher of the Tribune office Only this and nothing more

The election yesterday was the most quiet which has been held in this city for years The conduct of the victorious Republicans after it was over, was in marked contrast with that which is exhibited by Democrats when they are victors After the polls closed the streets were as quiet as though no election had taken place There was no drunkenness, no disorderly conduct When Democrats have carried the city they have gone howling through the streets puffed up insufferably with [illegible] and insolence

When we said some time ago that Multnomah county was securely Republican but it had given six hundred majority in former elections and could do it again, the statement was scouted by the Democratic organ To see how near we were right it is only necessary to look over the election return of this morning

The Dominion Pacific Railroad

The idea of a continental line of railway from Canada to British Columbia through the whole wilderness of British America has been regarded as something which would only be carried out if ever, by a future generation But it seems that the serious beginning of the project is assured by an agreement [illegible] furnish as much more The Government of [illegible] Union Pacific was put through but then the [illegible] private capital was not ready to invest in this direction as now [illegible] will be a far greater undertaking than any other [illegible] proposed the route being [illegible] almost entirely through [illegible] wilderness [illegible] It must [illegible] course will be to strike off from the Grand Trunk line at the junction of the Ottawa and St Lawrence rivers follow the former to Mattawa river and then along that stream and Lake Nipissing and from [illegible] river to Georgian Bay and along the north shore of the lakes westward to Red river Beyond that stream the wilderness is known only to the Hudson's Bay traders and is bleak and inhospitable The valley of the Saskatchewan has been highly spoken of as fertile and promising but it will require great efforts to induce settlers to occupy land in those latitudes so remote from a market of any kind

Undoubtedly the immediate incentive to British activity in this matter is serious apprehension concerning the effect of the course now being pursued by our Government in relation to opening up and developing our northwestern frontier The Northern Pacific Railway is already far advanced west of the Red river, and before the end of the present season is expected to reach the Missouri As it progresses it populates Minnesota Dakota Montana, Idaho and Washington even attracting thither many of the scattered settlers of British territory To counteract this develop the resources of its territory and strengthen its hold upon American soil is the object of the British Government in pushing this enterprise

To populate this section however with a desirable, thrifty intelligent and industrious element will be found somewhat difficult when a so much more attractive field is being opened up in the same section of country But it is safe to assume that if this road shall be built the British Government will use every exertion to direct to this wild and inhospitable country so much of the great current of foreign emigration as it can control By means of its home agents and offers of free homesteads it can undoubtedly do much to induce the poor people of the British isles to settle in these remote wildernesses especially as it can offer work to them in the construction of the railroad But as most of the immigration coming to the United States of late years is of a class able to pay its way with something in addition to begin with on arriving here the tide which has set in so strongly toward the great West can scarcely be turned Let Canada build her Great Highway in the end it will inure to mutual benefit But we have little expectation that it will be finished yet for many years and some who have explored the western portion of the route say it is so mountainous as to be practically insurmountable

Democracy don't Vardenize Yesterday's work showed that by adopting a so called fusion ticket, the Democrats lost more from their own party than they gained from the Republicans Numbers of men who had heretofore been Democrats refused to support the piebald ticket, and voted the straight Republican ticket from top to bottom Among those who did this were many of high standing and respectability

It is said that even Judge Shattuck scratched the Dolly Varden ticket, thus proving what has often been said of him that he could not himself nominate a ticket which he would support

THE TERRITORIES

We see by our Washington Territory exchanges that the terminus fever has broken out violently at Mukilteo

Skamania county, W T, is assessed at $145,000 Wahkiakum $59 347 Jefferson $[illegible] 224 Kitsap $647 953

Hallett has 400 men on his thirty miles this side of Olympia and calculates to be half through with his contract by the middle of June

The Kalama Beacon says forty immigrants have arrived this spring from Cole county Illinois, and settled on the Chehalis, in Lewis county

There are some desirable locations for farming purposes still unoccupied in and around the Kamilche settlement in Washington Territory and immigrants desiring to find good land and a quiet neighborhood with the advantage of a school would do well to visit that region before settling themselves elsewhere

Montgomery has 100 men employed on his ten mile portion between Pumphreys and Olympia and outside experts speak approvingly of every branch of his work and that by the last of September the results will be put up on record He has his [illegible] extended [illegible] gangs besides his own wood and timber work

The country lying immediately east of the Columbia river bounded north and east by Clark's Fork of said river and the boundary line of Washington Territory and on the south by the Spokane river has been set apart for an Indian reservation An effort will be made to remove all the Indian tribes east of the mountains on the new reserve

A certificate of incorporation of the Skagit River Company has been filed in the Territorial secretary's office in Olympia Its object is to navigate the Skagit river and its tributaries and take up land along its banks for the purpose of trade and traffic The capital is $20 000 time of existence twenty years The trustees for the first six months are James R Robbins Batty [illegible] John S Hill John Collins and John Leary The place of business is Seattle

WEALTH AND TAXATION.—The census of 1872 shows the present distribution of wealth and taxation among the States and the people We cannot give the list for each State but only the extremes New York is the richest State in the Union and has $1 185 20 for each person while Texas is the poorest State having only $191 50 for each person Oregon has $607 00 for each person The Southern States are all poor and go to the bottom of the list

In taxation Nevada leads is the highest in expense being $19 30 for each person while Texas is again at the bottom paying only $1 35 for each person Texas illustrates the scripture to whom little has been given little will be required The tax for each person in Oregon is $6 39 being below the average The rate of taxation on each one thousand dollars of property stands as follows Nevada is the highest being $36 34 while Delaware is the lowest being only $4 30 Little Delaware has therefore the cheapest and most economical government in the Union, while Nevada has the most expensive Oregon pays $11 26 on the thousand dollars which is a little above the average in all the States These are the rates on actual values not the assessed values

CITY.

FITTING TRIBUTE.—We have been informed by those who have recently paid a visit to Lone Mountain Cemetery at the suburbs of San Francisco that the last resting place of that patriot and orator whose memory every lover of his country in Oregon loves to cherish and hold in veneration—our own peerless immortal Baker—has been sadly and shamefully neglected. There is nothing to tell the passer who rests beneath. The spot has been allowed to become overgrown with a mass of tangle brush weeds and briars. More recently Congress, with a tardy justice to the services of Colonel Edward D. Baker has appropriated the sum of $10,000 for a life sized statue of this very distinguished man. It is to be made after a model executed and designed by Dr. Stone of Washington City who [illegible] the dead Senator's classic features soon after he was murdered at Ball's Bluff. After completion it will be placed in the Capitol at Washington. Although the State of California has neglected to take any action toward erecting a fitting monument over the dead orator's remains, yet once a year the desolate spot is made to bloom with flowers and evergreens by the loving hands of those who do not lose an opportunity to manifest their appreciation of the Senator, soldier, orator and friend of humanity. Could not Oregon who commanded his voice, heart and arm at the time of his death make some fitting and substantial contribution to show that her sense of gratitude for past distinguished services is not entirely dead.

TO RAISE THE BODY.—An attempt will be made this morning by several parties to raise the body of the young man, Peter Roberts who was drowned opposite the White House last Sunday. As the efforts thus far made to recover the body by dragging have proved unsuccessful, the following plan will be adopted. Eight tin powder cans, each containing 36 pounds will be sunk, by means of weights attached, to the bottom. A fuse will reach from the surface to the cans, by which fire can be communicated. By exploding these cans in the vicinity of where the body is supposed to be, it will probably cause it to rise to the surface. It is to be sincerely hoped that this plan will meet with success.

PASSENGERS.—The steamship John L. Stephens sailed for San Francisco last evening with a large amount of freight and the following passengers: J. Goldsmith, John W. Selby and wife, D. G. Lydell, S. Tibbetts and wife, R. D. Van Wagener, J. F. Van Wagener, Wm Cameron, W. W. Morton, Mr and Mrs Thatcher, Mrs M. S. Bonell, Mrs E. P. [illegible] and child, A. O. Niles, W. J. Lusk, Frank V. [illegible], G. Cook, G. A. Dobinson, Miss Mary Fisher, Miss Nellie Donovan, Miss Kitty Williams, F. Durking, J. T. Bonestell, F. J. Wood, F. S. Akin, wife and child, S. Guthrie, C. H. B. Hutchinson, wife and 2 children, Wells, Fargo & Co's [illegible], and 25 in steerage.

REWARD.—Police Commissioner Hallock stuck up a number of posters in various parts of the city yesterday, in which it was stated that $100 reward would be given for any person who was detected in casting an illegal vote. That was all very fine, but it is a notorious fact that there were a great many who offered and swore in a vote for the People's Ticket, who were total strangers to the old citizens of this city, and four out of every five special policemen wore strange countenances. The whole affair was a "blind" to more effectually cover up their own corruption and attempts at illegal voting.

SUITABLE RESOLUTIONS.—Mr. P. Roberts, who was drowned opposite the White House last Sunday, was an architect, and had recently graduated in his profession. He was a young man of unusual promise. All his friends and especially his fellow craftsmen, are requested to meet this morning at 8 o'clock at the office of W. W. Piper, Ghean's building, First street, to pass appropriate resolutions in memoriam and take suitable action on the melancholy occasion.

HO! FOR SALT RIVER.—Judge () Burnett and Joe Teal are now in the city. That canoe is lying "high and dry" down at the wharf. There never was a more fitting time for John and Jim to start on that proposed excursion up Salt river. However, the whole party are talking strongly of chartering a steamship for the purpose. 'Twas never more proper.

A PIONEER GONE.—We have been informed of the death of Captain Doty of Yamhill county, at his home a few days since. Captain Doty was one of Oregon's pioneers, and has been in the State since 1847. He was taken sick at Fort Yamhill, and was taken from there to his residence where he died. He was nearly 80 years of age.

WILL RETURN.—Mr. Geo. B. Waldron and troupe, consisting of Mrs Waldron, Mr and Mrs. Fulford, Miss Minnie Pixley, Messrs Cleaves, Clinton and Fortier, may be expected to arrive in this city some time during the present week from Olympia, at which place the Company are now playing.

WILL HAVE TO RAISE.—Since the results of the election of yesterday, the several countenances of those persons who adorned the Dolly Varden ticket are materially elongated. They all have acquired considerably more "cheek" than formerly, so that for the next few months the barbers will have to raise on the price of shaving.

ACCIDENT.—A Mr. Wells engaged at work on a new building near Park and Morrison streets, on last Saturday fell from the scaffolding to the ground, a distance of about twelve feet. One of his knees struck against a piece of scantling, and was so severely injured that he has been unable to leave his house or walk since.

DUE.—The steamer Ajax will be due at this port from San Francisco on to-morrow night. The steamer California was to have sailed from San Francisco for Sitka via this port yesterday, but no intelligence to that effect has been received yet.

GONE DOWN.—The bark Rival which has been in this port for the last two weeks, sailed down the river yesterday morning. She will load at Coupeville with lumber for San Francisco. The H. W. Almy is now overdue from the same port.

SECOND CONCERT.—Miss Mohrig will give her second concert at the New Masonic Hall this evening. We are not apprised of the programme but feel warranted in predicting that it will be quite as attractive as her former ones.

CLEARING.—The timber beyond Holladay's Addition, East Portland, is being burned and cleared off. Fires have been kept constantly burning for several days past, and the area of opening is gradually extending its limits.

CIRCUIT COURT.—The United States Circuit Court met yesterday afternoon at one o'clock. No business of importance was transacted and the Court stands adjourned until next Tuesday, 11th inst.

NON-JUDICIAL.—Yesterday being a non judicial day, the County Clerk's and Sheriff's offices were both closed during the day. No business of any character was transacted at either place.

PERSONAL.—Ben Holladay, Jr. is among the passengers now on the way to this port from San Francisco. He returns from a short European tour after several months absence.

DEPARTED.—Mr. Samuel Guthrie, Supervisor of Inspection for the Pacific coast, took his departure for San Francisco yesterday evening on the John L. Stephens.

NEW CITIZENS.—The following persons were admitted as citizens yesterday by Judge Deady: Owen Caraher of Ireland, and Edward Croft, of England.

COUNTY COURT.—The County Court was to have convened yesterday, but was deferred on account of the election for one day. It will meet this forenoon.

NEW TRIAL.—The argument on the motion for a new trial in the case of Mr. [illegible] [illegible] convicted of fraud will be heard before Judge Deady this morning.

VACATION.—The children of the various public schools of the city enjoyed a day's vacation yesterday in consequence of the election.

TO CONVENE.—The Circuit Court for Multnomah county, Judge Upton presiding, will convene on next Monday at 11 o'clock.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Yesterday was one of the finest of the present season.

How about the regatta that was promised this summer.

Morality thermometer on the decline—only two drunks yesterday.

The thirsty streets literally panted for the refreshing sprinkler yesterday.

A night blooming cereus is in bloom in a garden in the upper portion of the city.

And now the gorgeously variegated butterfly wings its way among the sturdy oaks.

Large quantities of whisky were punished yesterday by the Dollies. In order to keep up courage it was necessary to "licker" often.

To raise hops—put a smart active lad under each hill, hops will soon appear. To make lone day—tie their legs together so that they cannot stand.

HORTICULTURAL FAIR.—The State Horticultural Fair will commence at the Skating Rink on Wednesday, 19th inst. It will continue through three days. Music will be furnished every day. All persons are cordially invited to contribute fruits, flowers and specimens of workmanship from the mechanical arts, for exhibition.

VERY QUIET.—Yesterday was one of the most bitterly contested elections which the citizens of this city have engaged in for some time, but we are pleased to note that with the exception of a few drunken brawls everything passed off remarkably quiet and peaceably.

STREET PREACHING.—For the first time for a number of years Portland enjoyed a street sermon last Sunday at the corner of A and First streets. Moral reformation was never more needed—provided of course that it is of the right kind.

COUNTY PRECINCTS.—The following are the reported majorities from the outside precincts: St. John's 21 Dem. Sandy 20 Rep. Willamette 23 Rep. Three precincts—Multnomah, Sauvie's Island and Powell's Valley—not heard from.

PICNIC.—One week from next Sunday, the Montgomery Guard will hold their first annual picnic. The public will be timely apprized of all the particulars connected with the occasion.

MATCH GAME.—A match game of base ball was played near this city on last Saturday between the "Orients" and "Neptunes." The game resulted in a victory to the former club.

FAIR.—The A. M. E. Zion Church of this city will inaugurate a fair in Wilson's building to commence this (Tuesday) evening. The intention is to continue it for one week.

EXAMINED.—The man Butler, who has been arrested for the alleged crime of seduction of his stepdaughter, will be examined before Justice Crich to-morrow morning.

WOOD.—The high water has driven the wood yards to more elevated localities. The foot of Oak street has been converted into a temporary yard.

COUGHS AND COLDS are often overlooked. A continuance for any length of time causes irritation of the Lungs or some chronic Throat Disease. Brown's Bronchial Troches are an effectual Cough Remedy.

HOLLOWAY'S VERMIFUGE CONFECTIONS
Are the most effective remedy for those pests of childhood, Worms. All Physicians approve of them. They are pleasant to take and safe and reliable in all cases.
Sold at 25 cents per box.

INFORMATION.—When one purchases an article it invariably pays to spend time and take a little trouble to find the best place to buy. It is both an expensive and in the end an annoying practice to buy at the first place one comes to. But the reader can save much trouble, perhaps when he is informed that Jos. Kohn & Co. 91 Front street, sell no Clothing or Furnishing Goods that are not what they represent them to be. Therefore spare a few minutes at this house and receive full satisfaction.

BRANCHING OUT.—Persons living in the southern end of the city have certainly observed an innovation at 145 First street, between Yamhill and Taylor. This change has been made by Quinn, the well known dealer in Fish, Game and Poultry who opened this stand as a branch establishment, where at all times full supplies of everything in his particular line can be found. At the old stand—Washington street between First and Second—the usual supply of Fish, Game and Poultry can be had at any time. Orders left at either place will be promptly filled.

TO-NIGHT before going home, step into that well known Clothing house of J. O'Neil & Co. and leave your order for a suit of summer clothing and depend upon it, entire satisfaction will be given. While there, examine their excellent stock of furnishing goods. The prices are so low that no persons need trouble themselves about calling elsewhere for better bargains. Don't pass 36 First street when you have occasion to buy anything in their line. O'Neil & Co. will not be undersold by any house in town.

A PERFECT FIT.—At the emporium of fashion of Fishel & Roberts a cutter from New York City has arrived and is prepared to measure those desirous of presenting themselves in the latest style. As this firm has a fine assortment of cloths and one of the best cutters on the coast, the purchaser can be insured everything that is desirable to make a suit complete in every detail. When you conclude to buy clothing or furnishing goods remember the southwest corner of Washington and First streets.

HOTELS, RESTAURANTS AND FAMILIES desiring the freshest Salmon, Clams and other Fish should remember Esmond & Clark's New Market, Front street between A and B streets where they keep only the best.

HOUSEKEEPERS ATTENTION.—Monnastes, No. 129 First street, received by last steamer a large invoice of Crockery, Glassware, and other articles in his particular line, and proposes to sell the same to the public at prices that must satisfy everybody. To be convinced just call on him, examine his stock and buy, for you certainly will as he offers goods at lowest rates and of the best quality.

THE UMATILLA HOUSE at The Dalles is now completed and furnished in every respect unsurpassed. The office is the most cheerful and pleasant in the State, and the dining hall is unequaled. The rooms are all newly furnished. The house has twelve suites of rooms with stoves in them for families. The new house stands much higher than the old one. The ceilings are four feet higher, which adds greatly to the cheerfulness of the rooms. The table is kept in a style to correspond fully with the appointments.

Courts of Commerce

A report on Courts of Commerce has just been issued by a committee of the English House of Commons which had been appointed to consider the matter. The report is warmly in favor of the adoption by England of these tribunals, and the London Times endorses the recommendation. A bill under the auspices of the English Government will therefore most probably be brought in at an early day to legalize the establishment of these [illegible].

Courts of Commerce are mixed tribunals where only half or a certain proportion of the members of the court have professional legal experience; the other assessors are merchants. Such institutions are unknown to the English or American law, except in cases of Admiralty litigation. In marine matters judges are often puzzled with the evidence of nautical witnesses and the use of seafaring terms. The evidence of experts on the points in question sometimes only adds to the confusion, so that as regards maritime causes, the adoption of a mixed tribunal has been often found to be desirable. But in several of the nations of Continental Europe, similar mixed tribunals are the mediums for the trial of causes of every kind. These courts are to be distinguished from the Conseils de prud'hommes or Boards of Conciliation which settle disputes between masters and workmen. Courts of Conciliation are not presided over by judges, nor have they any legal element at all in their composition. They are therefore easily distinguishable from tribunals of commerce, which have only a slight admixture of the lay element, and which profess to administer justice according to the received rules of law and evidence.

It is doubted whether such institutions would be adapted to New York, or indeed, to any part of the American Union. In England the Judges receive handsome salaries and are appointed for life, or else until they are convicted of a criminal offence or are deposed by a vote of both Houses of Parliament. English judges therefore have every inducement held out to them to administer justice impartially. Our Judges, on the other hand, are like all paid agents who get the run of the house for awhile and are then set adrift once more on the political sea. They are thus kept continually in contact with the public, or rather with a political section of it. To invest our courts with more of a lay element, therefore, would seem to be very dangerous. Let us imagine that some of the magnates lately in power in New York were sitting on the bench beside some of the judges who owed their seats to them, what would be the result of this intimacy? Can any one doubt that it would lead to no good result? Even as matters are the court is too open to outside suggestions. The remedy consequently for the laws delays in New York, wherever it is to be found, is certainly not to be looked for in the mixing of more of the lay element with our judiciary.

Courts of Commerce do not deal with crimes. This shows their unfitness to decide questions of contract and fraud, which are often connected with criminal offences. Indeed, if the amount on which the mixed court may adjudicate be small, no great injury can be done. Neither should there be any appeal allowed from such tribunals, but they should be allowed full latitude as to law, fact and evidence. Summary courts of this nature would be useful, but as their jurisdiction would be limited, so would their advantages. As to weighty cases we certainly would not wish to see them subjected to lay cognizance, except in the present form of a trial before a jury presided over by a judge. Of what use would it be to bring such a suit before a mixed tribunal, that would be certain to make some slip in receiving or rejecting evidence illegally, and would thus only afford a stepping stone to an appeal? An English Vice Chancellor once rebutted an attorney by telling him that his court was the most popular one in the kingdom, and that every one who could sought redress in it. "Yes," replied the attorney, "my brethren know that your honor's decisions are certain to be appealed from, and hence arises your popularity with them." So it would be with lay tribunals. They would be only feeders for appeals and litigation, and while seeming to close the mouth of the well, would only drive the torrents out in more places than one. But as regards marine causes there is no objection to the lay element acting on the bench, especially as politicians are usually at sea on all questions of commerce and navigation, and consequently cannot hope to act as assessors for the determination of marine disputes.

The Burning of Somerset

ALMOST TOTAL DESTRUCTION OF A PENNSYLVANIA VILLAGE

[Pittsburgh (May 14th) Correspondence of the New York World.]

Few New Yorkers, probably, are aware that a calamity greater proportioned to its extent than that which overtook Chicago last Thursday fell upon the pretty little village of Somerset, seventy miles southeast of this city. The short telegraphic dispatch announcing its almost entire destruction was not likely to be even glanced at by the careless reader that seldom has a more swift and sweeping conflagration visited any community. Fully three-fourths of the town is destroyed and insurance for the paltry sum of $[illegible] is all that covers the loss of fully $1,000,000.

The fire commenced in a livery stable at the extreme end of the town about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and seemingly in less time than it takes to write this sentence had swept completely over the whole business portion of the village. The wind was blowing hard, and carried sparks and shingles in all directions, so that while the terrified inhabitants were endeavoring to stay the fire in one place, it would break out in another far ahead. It was the story of Chicago over again, except that the buildings were mostly of wood and burned almost as soon as caught. Every grocery in the place with one exception, and every hotel, except the Barnett House, the two printing offices, and the Lutheran and Presbyterian churches were burned. In almost every case, the sufferer from the devouring element lost his all, and well to do farmers of the day before became beggars without a place to sleep at night. Numbers, of course, passed that and the succeeding night in the open air, and even now few have quarters adequate to protect them from the chilly breezes and [illegible] winds that blow through down [illegible]. The destitution is [illegible] great, and the charitable people of New York will not be [illegible] out of their way [illegible] to the [illegible] of their sister [illegible]. [illegible] of course are being [illegible] to assist the sufferers, [illegible] [illegible] Brotherly Love cannot fail to lend a helping [illegible]. The town was built [illegible].

Why he Supports Grant

C. L. H., a soldier who fought under Gen. Grant in fifteen battles, gives the following as his reasons for professing to remain true to his old commander, rather than take up the standard of the soreheads and their accepted leader:

"What does the Liberal Republican party propose to do? Of what use is its existence? These are the questions which agitate many minds, and many like myself cannot see the use of any such organization. Called in convention ostensibly to reform our politics, this body has [illegible] who [illegible] being all things to all men, though it is scarcely possible that he be able to save some. Called in the interests of honesty and patriotism [illegible] it has been [illegible] [illegible] this. All [illegible] [illegible] the meaning of such [illegible]. [illegible] will stand by Grant. [illegible] titles from the [illegible] [illegible] they will never desert [illegible]. Keep up the flag. When the Fifty fourth Massachusetts went charging over the rebel works at Battery Wagner the color bearer, though nine bullets crashed through his body, would not let the flag drop. Tearing it from the staff and holding it in both hands aloft, he crawled back to the reserve line. Standing erect with the loved flag over his head, he cried, 'Here it is boys, and I tell you that old flag never went down. I kept it up all the time.' As he uttered these last words the banner dropped from his hands, and with a gasp he was dead. This is our lesson. Let us keep up the flag, let us rally round our leader. The loyal men of the North will have no other leader for the next four years than U. S. Grant."

It Ended in Smoke

INTERVIEW OF A UTAH SENATOR WITH THE PRESIDENT [illegible]

[illegible] Senator [illegible] of the future State of Deseret, called upon the President a few days ago [illegible] [illegible] the Presidential [illegible].

"Mr President," said the Colonel, "I want to try and [illegible] you of the advisability of admitting Utah into the sisterhood of States."

"I am unalterably opposed to the admission of Utah," answered the President.

"Has [illegible] you have been prejudiced against the people [illegible] by unfair statements [illegible]."

"I am unalterably opposed to the admission of Utah," was the reply.

"[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] great [illegible] the Union."

"I am unalterably opposed to the admission of Utah," again replied the firm man.

"[illegible] any terms."

"Yes, upon any terms. At least they should not come in until they learn how to behave themselves."

"If you refer to polygamy they will no doubt surrender that for the sake of admission and peace, although it is one of the doctrines of their church."

"And murder is one of the doctrines of the church [illegible]."

"No indeed, there are less murders committed there than in [illegible] the surrounding Territories. [illegible] you have been very much misinformed about the true condition of affairs. You surely don't believe everything you hear against the Mormons?"

"Where there is so much smoke there must be some fire," answered the President.

"Suppose we should say the same about all the lies told about you?"

Silence and smoke.

"By admitting us the troubles out there would be at an end."

Silence and smoke.

"It is of the highest importance to the welfare of her people and the development of the rich resources of the Territory that Utah be admitted."

Silence and smoke.

"Is your mind, Mr. President, so firmly made up that whatever arguments might be adduced would be useless?"

"I am unalterably opposed to the admission of Utah," replied our firm President, and the charming interview ended.

A Soldier's Opinion of the President

The following is a portion of the answer of Gen. Devins to the toast of "The President of the United States," at the banquet of the Army of the Potomac in Cleveland:

I have spoken of the President as the representative of the nation, but I am sure you would not pardon me if I should fail to speak of him personally. There must be [illegible] differences of opinion among us in matters of politics, but whatever they may be, we agree that the grand foundation of our political system was laid amid the thunder tones of our artillery and the rattling volleys of our rifles. We would that the President were here, that we might for the moment forget him as the President of the United States, and honor and welcome him with the love and affection of a comrade—the soldier who he led to final triumph and victory. I need not enter into an analysis of the character of the President of the United States. I love you and all of our old commanders too well to be your impartial historian, but sometimes when reading descriptions of men of former times we find something that applies to men of the present. The other day while sauntering along the streets of Cleveland I chanced to enter a book store. You know we men who have become Judges naturally seek a book store, as General Custar would look for a stable to see how the horses were. I happened to see a quotation from Milton, where he speaks of Cromwell, the greatest ruler England ever had, which seems to me to be peculiarly applicable to him who commanded all our armies, and you will permit me to read it:

"Wherefore you speak contemptibly of his parts I know not, but I suspect you are not free from the error common to studious and speculative men. Because Oliver was an ungraceful orator and never said either in public or private anything memorable, you will have it that he was of mean capacity. Surely this is unjust. Many men have been ignorant of letters, without wit, without eloquence, who yet had the wisdom to devise and the courage to perform that which they lacked language to explain. Such men often in troubled times have worked out the deliverance of nations [illegible] their own greatness [illegible] by wariness in success, by [illegible] in danger, by firm and stable resolution in all adversity. The hearts of men are their books, events their tutors, great actions are their eloquence, and such an one in my judgment was his late Highness [illegible]. [illegible] shall own him for a great statesman, a great soldier, a true lover of his country, a merciful and generous conqueror." I ask you now to join me in giving three cheers for Gen. Grant. [Prolonged cheering.]

ROUTE OF THE NORTHERN PACIFIC.—Intelligence from Washington states that the official charts for the location of the Northern Pacific Railroad through Dakota and Montana [illegible] just [illegible]. The line [illegible] on the charts may be designated as follows:

Crossing the Red river of the North at Fargo, just above the mouth of Big Cheyenne river, thence nearly due west to the crossing of the Missouri river at the mouth of Heart river, thence west to the crossing of the Yellowstone [illegible] near the mouth of [illegible] river, thence up through Bozeman Pass, thence past the site of Hamilton, [illegible] the [illegible] of Jefferson and Madison rivers, through Big Hole or Deer Lodge Pass [illegible] Deer Lodge and [illegible] rivers to the mouth of [illegible] river, [illegible] straight [illegible] [illegible].

A Dead Delusion

The theory that human beings whose strength has been exhausted by pain and disease can be restored by [illegible] and water gruel, [illegible] [illegible] exploded. At [illegible] that strength cannot be purged [illegible] [illegible] may easily [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the brighter for [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the nerves [illegible] [illegible] the blood improvement [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] most [illegible].

The O ar True History of a Gay Deceiver

From the Detroit Free Press May 16

A Brooklyn official named Prell arrived in Detroit yesterday morning for the purpose of making the arrest of a man named [illegible] Kingsbury on charge of bigamy. Prell had a letter directing him to a man [illegible] tablishment at Atwater street where he expected to find Kingsbury at work [illegible] going to the shop he [illegible] or Saginaw the last [illegible] Kingsbury who has [illegible] the East married a [illegible] about seven years [illegible]

He lived with her about six months and then ran away turning up at [illegible] a year after as a minister of the gospel [illegible] having another wife. While his [illegible] taking measures to have him arrested [illegible] bury slipped off to New Haven [illegible] eral hundred dollars from his [illegible] He was not heard of [illegible] and was then discovered [illegible] a crockery store and had been married about a month, the third wife being a respectable and worthy young lady. The brother of wife No 2 was complainant in having Kingsbury arrested and the bigamist was placed behind the bars of a police station to be taken to Jersey City. In some manner which has never been satisfactorily explained he made his escape from the station and though closely pursued for several days he got into Pennsylvania and concealed himself.

The relatives of wives one, two and three made up a snake purse and employed an official to spend his whole time looking after the gay deceiver.

MARRIED AGAIN

He looked for several months and then gave up the chase until he saw a notice in a Harrisburg paper that Kingsbury had married the widowed landlady of a boarding house in that city, robbed her of money and jewelry and been arrested in the act of absconding. The notice was a week old when seen and when Prell reached Harrisburg Kingsbury had induced wife No 4 to withdraw her prosecution and once out of jail, he made a successful escape. From what can be learned Kingsbury was galivanting through Ohio and Virginia for two or three years, taking a wife here and there, and it is quite certain that he came to Detroit a month ago from the Ohio State Penitentiary having served a short term there for being connected with a horse stealing scrape in Lorain county.

AND YET NOT HAPPY

Kingsbury boarded at a house on Hastings street, and had not been an inmate of the house a week when he wanted to marry the servant girl, giving her to understand that he was to soon come into possession of a large fortune. Being addicted to drink he one night got to feeling highly elated and blabbed most of his history to a companion. This man got the name of the wife at Jersey City and wrote to her that Kingsbury was here. The letter was sent to Prell and he came on as stated, but Kingsbury had departed. Prell left for Saginaw as soon as possible and hopes to catch the bigamist somewhere up in the valley. It is believed that the man has during the seven years married at least ten women. Prell has personal knowledge of four and newspaper slips concerning four more, and as the fellow was lost track of for about two years he probably married at least two during that period. If arrested and given the average sentence for each time he has married contrary to law he will spend all his remaining days in prison.

Poking Fun at a Railroad

Mr Derrick Dodd writes as follows to the Washington Capital about the branch railroad between Baltimore and the capital:

But about this railroad. Of course I want it abolished, every one does. The reckless velocity with which the trains are run between here and Baltimore is absolutely frightful. I was delighted years ago when this road was established, because I thought we had got rid of the old rickety and dangerously fast stage coaches, but the speed they are beginning to run the trains at now on this road is worse yet. Now every one knows that Baltimore is forty miles from Washington, if it is an inch, and three days and a half is plenty quick enough for the trip but the managers have already reduced the schedule time to three days and four hours and what with making the engine fires too hot and racing with cows along the road, and all that the conductors are even cutting that time down.

Why it was only the other day on the down trip we happened to spy Simms's old mule about two miles out of town. What should the reckless wretch of an engineer do but clap on full steam and race every foot of the way into the district! We didn't exactly pass the mule, but we caught up to him twice and came into the depot neck and neck—and which was puffing the most the mule or the engine, you couldn't have told to save your life. Now it was all very exciting and all that, I know but I hadn't purchased an accident ticket, and I don't believe the other four passengers had either. This is all wrong, Mr Editor, all wrong.

And then another occasion I remember we came within a hair's breadth of having a very serious accident. The engineer had gotten off to snow-ball a chipmunk and the conductor was minding a young widow's baby for her—the result was that the train happened to get on a down grade and we started off at a terrific rate every bit of four miles an hour I should think. We were just half a mile above the Annapolis junction and the first thing we knew—there being no one to whistle and wake up the switch tender—we were turned off into the Annapolis road and went down the wrong road at full speed. Imagine our consternation when, just at this moment we heard the whistle not half a mile ahead of us, of the Annapolis up train. We were paralyzed with terror. Here were two trains on the same track approaching each other at the dizzy speed just mentioned. Evidently our time had come. In a few short hours the engines would meet and then—destruction! With great presence of mind, a minister on board organized a prayer meeting. Pale but calm the doomed band of passengers sat, and though with the very shadow of death upon them, raised their voices in a parting hymn.

"Send for the baggage master," said a young man with a sad smile.

"Why?" was asked.

"Because we are all about to pass in our checks."

Everybody wept. From the rear platform we could see the miserable engineer straining every nerve to catch up but he had tight boots on and didn't gain any thing to speak of.

At this moment a ray of hope dawned upon us. I had just finished writing my will upon the back of a visiting card when I observed a young lady in the act of detaching her bustle. Placing the article—which was composed of eight hundred Capitals and a hair mattress—under her arm the heroine marched through the car. We followed her anxiously.

She climbed up on the tender then over the engine. It was very interesting and thrilling to see her climbing over the wheels and brass things on the way to the cow catcher. It reminded me of a country girl getting over a wire fence. But never mind about that now. Let me see where I was. Oh yes—on the cow catcher. Holding on by the cross bars with one hand the noble maiden tied the bustle on the sharp prow with the other.

You can guess the result. In the course of the afternoon the collision came off. Protected by the bustle the engine received a gentle bump and we were saved.

I took up a collection for the woman on the spot. I always take up a collection on such occasions always. And what more I never forget to give the the [illegible] interested something nice out of it never. There is nothing mean about me. I suppose you have noticed my clothes?

Mary's Little Lamb. Which I wish to recite and my language is plain that for fleece that is white and for schooling in vain the Mary lambkin is peculiar which the same I would rise to explain. Ba Ba was his name and I hope I may die if I know what the same may express or imply but his voice it was plaintive and babe-like as I frequently remarked to Mary. It was April the third, and quite nice was mint sauce which might be inferred was on Ba-Ba, of course but he played it that day on the master and school in a way I would scorn to indorse. Which we had a day school and Ba Ba choose to go it was reading the fool not the first word did know but he frisked as he went to his class, which his trick neither pensive nor slow. For [illegible] sleeve which were stuffed full of rattans and rulers and the [illegible] [illegible]

We ain't to write for this [illegible] [illegible] an [illegible] I am [illegible]

Darwin's Theory

From [illegible]

The [illegible] has a theory in reference to the origin of man which he proposes to substitute in [illegible] that of Darwin who brings us along down the [illegible] highway of life from the monkey with the prehensile tail to the man with his long fingers of dexterous manipulation to catch and hold things coming within his reach. This theory of Darwin has much to commend it to our comprehension and belief nor is the baboon and the gorilla and the orang outang so widely different from the present species of man as some would have us think. The habits of the two animals (man and monkey) are not essentially unlike. The disposition of the monkey to run wild in the woods to avoid school to play hookey to tear leaves out of books to imitate his elders to experiment in smoking and chewing tobacco to worry the cat and play with the fire is very like the animal boy. His fondness for trees and nuts and fruit is not unlike and the school boy exhibits a nearly equal agility in climbing trees and fences. The monkey steals for two motives: for his belly and for mischief. The hoodlum does the same thing. As the monkey advances in years he becomes grave and sedate so does the man. Some monkeys get wicked and bite some men grow sour and ugly. Some monkeys need the chain, some men need the State Prison to curb their propensities. Some of the monkey species get amiable as they grow old like the [illegible] and only grin and chatter out their lives thankful [illegible] the looker on throws them nuts and confections in return [illegible] there is another long tailed animal from which doubtless a portion of mankind has sprung—an animal domestic among us interesting in his habits an animal preferring to live in houses omnivorous mysterious prolific migratory brave in battle irresistible in its rage cannibal in its hunger. We refer to the rat. Cut off the rat's tail change his fore paws into hands stand him on his feet give him six feet of stature expand his chest clothe him in fashionable garments put a hat upon his head teach him to talk and you have a man. Now let the rat drink whisky (when he is treated) smoke (when he is asked) give him a pen to write what he is paid for dwarf him in stature to four feet six give him a slouching bad hat a greasy coat let him retain all his vanity conceit impudence ingratitude dishonesty all his mean and rat like propensities and although you have not quite a man you have the Bohemian rat who thinks the Town Crier has lost his wits. Take another instance: give the developed rat a long tailed black coat a white choker a bombazine waistcoat a broad-brimmed hat, let him draw his face up at the eyebrows and down at the chin and you have a preacher. Put him in the pulpit with a congregation of cats eating stolen cream and the divine becomes eloquent in the denunciation of sins he cannot enjoy. Let him take the vows of celibacy (not chastity) and take snuff and you have a priest. Take off his shoes and put a rope around his waist and you have a monk. Clothe him differently let him retain his side whiskers part his hair in the middle, put a hot potato in his mouth and behold an Englishman. Teach him to chew tobacco stand on the curbstone with a crooked handled cane and lo! a politician. Let these rats get hungry and go to eating each other up and then you have lawyers or brokers. With petticoats and crinoline is a female with furtive eye coquetting with every passer by. Get a little social crowd around a pan of milk and a bit of toasted cheese and a lunch party with all its tattle and gossip is before you. Perhaps after all the origin of species is not confined to either monkeys or rats. The doctrine of Zoroaster may be true and souls may transmigrate from the animal to the human form.

PLANTATION BITTERS!

S. T.--1860--X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.
